Wall Street's Incubator
The Dean's for Eugenics
Hawks' New Triumph
The Prohibition Verdict

By Arthur Brisbane

THE WALL STREET baby had another pain yesterday. One firm failed, as an aftermath of stock gambling, and men that should know better will be frightened by this little incident in the richest country in the world.

From the biggest business men to the smallest nobility, we all should stop talking pessimism, and instead, show signs of energy and courage. If we did, conditions would be better.

In modern incubators there are no sharp corners, the inside being made up of round chicks from crowding into a corner and smothering each other.

Wall Street needs to be rebuilt apparently on incubator principles. Those easily scared to death are inclined to crawl into a corner and smother each other's progress.

Dean Inge, St. Paul's Cathedral in London, one of the most important clergymen, warns his fellows in the church that they must not ignore the eugenics, namely, those interested in producing better children.

Nature does not know any thing, according to the dean. We have scientific knowledge, and if we don't use it, that is "counted to us for a crime."

The dean even takes an interest in the theory that a woman should be allowed to regulate the size of her family.

There is something in the statement that nature doesn't always function perfectly. Of the first two brothers born on earth by nature's process, Cain and Abel, one killed the other.

Another ocean hop started yesterday, when Captain Boyd and Lieutenant Conner left Harbor Grace, just before noon, on the way to England.

The most remarkable flying news is that Captain Hewitt, who now ranks as the first flier in America, or anywhere else on earth, flew from Philadelphia to New York city in 20 minutes, his average speed 270 miles an hour.

That speed, if sustained, would make the trip to Paris in less than half the Lindbergh time. These news items will be used in this advertisement: "New York to Paris in London in 10 hours, with refund for any delay of more than 30 minutes."

Mr. Wickham, head of Prohibition, under a ban on prohibition, intimates that a report will soon be made and it is believed that the possibility of enforcing prohibition is proved, that fact should be stated.

Already many leading politicians, including the Republican, Democratic and Prohibitionist for governor in New York, have declared that prohibition is a failure, also a criminal injury to the country, and should be repealed.

The daily murder news, bootlegging, racketeering and gangsterism, make it imperative the necessity of reaching some decision as early as possible.

As regards any change in prohibition, the prohibitionist is in the opinion of one humble observer, in that government, in obedience to public opinion in large cities, will ignore the law, not repeal it.

This would put the country on a permanent basis of white-knuckled bootlegging, beer made by those that don't know how to make it, everyone allowed to drink as much, and die as soon, as he chooses.

It is said the British never reveal a law, but that is not an accord. The British rule that a man may be tried with a slighter, no bigger around than his thumb, before a law long after the hearings had lost public approval.

Earthquakes disturb many parts of Europe, including Germany, Austria and Italy. Yesterday buildings in Vienna were cracked, chimneys shaken down.

A hundred years ago, it would have been said that the human race was being punished, if a little late, for its wickedness in the Great War.

But men recently have concluded that the law of nature is along evenly, and are not frightened by Providence to punish the wicked.

They would not believe as they did in 1840 that St. Sebastian sent a plague, killing thousands, because he had not been beaten to him, and snipped the plague, when the monument was hastily completed.

New York city does not seem to feel any hard times pinch. It is announced that in 1911 the monument was hastily completed.

FISHING CRAFT DORNIER DO-X FEARED LOST TO HOP SOON

Portland, Me., Oct. 10.—Fears for safety of the swordfish schooner Bernice and Beattie were felt today when it became known that the vessel has not been heard from for five weeks.

At that time the motor schooner, owned by the Portland Fishing Co., put into Liverpool, N. S., with a leaky rubber pool.

In the past 10 days there have been many severe storms in the North Atlantic and it is feared that heavy seas may have battered the old craft under the leak because worse.

The craft is 37 years old, is 54 feet long and of 18 tons. Her captain is John Grier of Portland and she carries a crew of four others.

LETTERS FROM BOSTON AMERICAN READERS

Letters from readers are welcomed. Letters should not exceed 250 words, should be written on one side of paper, and must bear writer's name. Names will be omitted in publications, if requested. Address Editor, Boston American, 1 Washington sq.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

After the meeting of the American Federation of Labor in this city, I began to think of the many helpful improvements in the labor world today.

Over a century ago mechanics worked 12 or more hours a day. Right here in New England textile mills the hours were 13 or 14 hours a day. This applied to women and children also. The movement for a 10-hour day in this section of the country began in 1840. President Van Buren backed it and called for 10 hours at the navy yard.

Even up to 1885 a number of textile mills in this part of the country operated under a 13-hour day. Look at eight hours now and even less than eight hours is already here.

Great changes have come over the hours for labor. The writer of this letter was once driven out of a town 20 years ago because he proclaimed the coming of the eight-hour day before mill owners. They have since swallowed this bait and now see its wisdom.

ADOLPHUS FOWLER.

China further aggravates the adjustment of supply and demand. An attitude of intense optimism regarding a permanent prosperity fails to recognize the folly of overproduction and overconsumption. The coming of hard times affords business leaders an early opportunity to exchange views and opinions and to devise ways and means to avert the economic crisis.

It is gratifying at this time to acknowledge the leadership of Mayor James M. Curley, of whom Boston has every reason to be proud. By pushing construction projects and advocating reasonable purchasing, his honor has done much toward the relief of unemployment. Not being satisfied with these curative measures, Mr. Curley is determined to seek a permanent scheme to prevent the recurrence of depression. In doing so he has shown clear foresight by consulting experts and scholars of his own city. The enormous material

Crime Waves Ascribed To Too Many Unwired Laws

Editor Boston American:

We have on our statute books too many laws that, to say the least, infringe upon the most elementary personal rights.

In at least one of our states, cigarettes are banned, and in another the public use of the pipe or smoking status goes so far as to tell us that we must not play or work on Sundays. We cannot play games of chance for money without being called lawless.

Of course you know about this evolution gap in one or two of the Southern states. What we shall do is governed by law. Now it has come to pass that in this country our increase in lawlessness is due to the kind of laws we are asked to obey. Good laws do not make lawlessness. But we have unwieldy laws and these make criminals. Why don't we clean up the statute books in this state? No nation can be made moral by laws. Think this over.

R. A. THURGOOD.

Mrs. Tilton's Interest in Dry Law Questioned

Editor Boston American:

In Mrs. Tilton's interest in the prohibition question, since? Does she support it because with all its apparent evils she thinks it's worth keeping? Or is she using it as a stepping-stone to political honors? In my opinion she is too intelligent to believe in a law so useless. As leader of the Republican party, she holds a higher position than Mr. Butler himself. It pays to support prohibition when the reward is so great.

BERNARD FAHEY.

Streets to Be Paved

Vincent Club Season Is Opened

Luncheon at Dedham Polo and Country Club Attracts Many Members

THE VINCENT CLUB season opened auspiciously today with one of the most successful luncheons in its history. Miss Harriet Morse, president; Mrs. William Cox, first vice-president and chairman of publicity; and Miss Eleanor Gibson, secretary, presided over the members informally. About 70 guests attended and it was the smartest gathering so far this season. It seems quite probable that some of the fall costumes were purchased in Paris and the Dedham Polo Club was quite New York in atmosphere.

MISS SALLY WAMBOLT, who is always correctly attired, was warmly charming. Her black ensemble with touches of white; Barbara Welch was wearing dark red with matching belt; brilliant blue frock and hat with beige leopards coat was most becoming to Miss Gordon Abbott, Jr.; Miss Morse, the president of the club, was smart in black with touch of white; Eleanor Gibson, who is a distinct type, was vivid in red and black. Her ensemble with her summer tan. Miss Henry Parsons King, Jr. always a light-hearted person to meet, looked well in her tweeds and Polly Boat was chic in light brown sport dress and belt.

AFTER LUNCHEON THE members were addressed by Mr. Erdmann, representative of George Miller, producer who will have the coming production in the nature of a medieval pageant, with a sort of international flavor. The dancing lessons for the choruses will start next week and the costumes will be more gorgeous this year than ever before. It was voted to increase the dues of the members and also the initiation fee. Soon the list of fortunate members who will be taken into the club will be published and there will be much rejoicing and no doubt a few heartaches.

THEIR YEAR, MISS FRED DABNEY of Two Rivers, who has the invitations committee for the Algonquin dances. The dates have not been decided but the first one will occur soon after Christmas.

Mrs. L. R. Anderson, head patroness for Palmer Lecture. Mrs. L. R. ANDERSON presides over the course of three illustrated lectures to be given during November by Dr. Sarah Ellen Palmer in the large lecture hall of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Dr. Palmer spent the summer in Europe and the winter in South America, and on November 3 her first lecture will be based on the latter place. Among the patronesses are Mrs. Philip R. Sullivan, Mrs. Charles G. Briggs, Mrs.

We heard of an interesting incident of the other service committee. Mrs. White-Side was sent to help a discouraged mother who had been created in the lives of patient sufferers.

Brookline clubwomen are anxiously anticipating November 7 when the annual bridge and fashion show of the club is scheduled at the Copley-Plant. As general chairman, Mrs. Frank W. Phillips has enlisted the efforts of many of the women. Since this is the big money-making venture of the club, the membership works hard for its success.

It is also the social event of the season for the club. With the proceeds of the affair the Brookline Club carries on its philanthropic program and an extensive program of it, since the club members and executive board acting as chairs.

Miss Edith Noyes Greene, as chairman of the afternoon, will play a special piano group composed by herself, with one dedicated to Miss Bradley. Miss G. M. Small will read an oration composed of members of the club will be under the direction of Mrs. Belle Yeaton Mann.

DAILY ANTIQUE

No. 219

This handsome chaise longue of carved walnut dates from the time of the regency in France, or the rule of the Duke of Orleans during the minority of Louis XV. It is graceful in line and reflects the breaking down in court life of the rigid, stilted manners enforced by Louis XIV. This piece, together with others of the same period, are exhibited in the salon from the Chateau de la Muette in the Museum of Fine Arts. This chateau was one of the places where Louis XV spent part of his youth and was later the property of Mrs. Pompadour, presented to her by the monarch.

Boston Evening American is publishing daily photographs of interesting antiques. Owners of antiques of Colonial or early American origin or of historic associations are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. If a photograph is not available, the American will send a cameraman to photograph the antique, providing the owner lives in Greater Boston. Thick, wavy hair!

You, too, can have long, abundant hair. It's simply a matter of using this easy method, approved by hair specialists, endorsed by stars of stage and screen, used by millions who haven't time for the more laborious treatment.

Tonight when you arrange your hair, just put a little Danderine on your brush. Then as you draw the brush through your hair, you'll find the scalp is toned and soothed. See how the hair becomes more pliant, more manageable, how its natural color is brought out, how it takes on new brilliancy and lustre!

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff, helps slow falling, keeps hair and scalp healthy, encourages the growth of new, abundant hair. Five million bottles used a year. That proves Danderine's effectiveness. And on November 3 her first lecture will be based on the latter place. Among the patronesses are Mrs. Philip R. Sullivan, Mrs. Charles G. Briggs, Mrs.

TRIO FINED $600 IN 'LOTTERY RACKET'

A stern warning to pool racketeers was delivered in Roxbury court today by Judge Timothy Ahearn as he fined three Roxbury youths $200 each and announced that further cases would result in jail sentences. The trio, Harry Miller, Robert J. Jones and Walter J. Dorsey, escaped with fines, he said, because he found that they were legitimately employed and were conducting the pool business as a sideline. They were arrested by Sgt. Harrow and a squad from headquarters after a complaint to Deputy Sup't. McDermott that the winner of the capital prize had not collected. "The only reason you are not being sent to jail is because you are regularly employed," Judge Ahearn said. "But this is a sleeping slum in Roxbury and I want to warn others that they cannot promote such a nefarious business without landing in jail. I will fine them this time, but similar offenders will get no more leniency." The court made arrangements to pay their fines.

AFTERNOON RALLY STOPS NEW SELLING DELUGE

New York, Oct. 16.—The big afternoon rally today effectually stopped the selling deluge which spread over the New York Stock Exchange in the forenoon.

The end of the selling appeared soon after the announcement of U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage, the decline being far smaller than that announced a month earlier.

Active stocks had been swept down $2 to $10 a share in the forenoon. Around 1 p. m. the rally got under way.

Support appeared for amusement issues, which had been severely depressed. It was of the strongest character.

U. S. Steel finished at 44½, up 5 points from its day's low, closing at the top for the day, as did most of the leaders.

Fox recovered nearly all its 9½-point drop. Utilities Power & Light was off but 2½ after having sold down 4. General Theaters sold off about 8, then recovered all but about 2.

down to 192%, but closed at 198%, up 2% from the previous close.

The street held its breath during the forenoon noisive.
